Certain beliefs about minor points of everyday life and some of the things that a person, organization or community is important. In general, long-term decisions and beliefs shape the beliefs of macro strategies, decisions and beliefs shared beliefs performers' functional (operational) call.

Parallel to the two categories of belief and cultural synergies in research goals will help the organization succeed. Energy otherwise spent neutralize each other and make disrupt and impede the move toward your goals will be.

Help beliefs, everyday beliefs are set in motion. The Help beliefs determine the way that anything should be done on a daily basis is the belief that things can be done virtually on a daily basis. Help such as the belief that the fundamental rules rarely change, while beliefs every day, everyday behavior are relevant and appropriate to the circumstances change.

Learn how to attract organizations, with the norms and standards of social processes in organizations feasibility and pre-service training as they learn appropriate behavior and learning appropriate behavior, sometimes individuals, norms, and gradually these and gradually increase the fire they are accustomed. In the first case, the total teaching the formal and non-formal methods are, in the second case. So the deeper, less visible, including the common values can be changed even if they are members of the organization will remain. The fact that these values form the group behavior. Leadership role in the management of organizational culture

In addition to outlining the vision and guidance of leaders in order to fulfill its mission and strategy play an important role in shaping and maintaining an organizational culture that support the strategy is are in charge. The organization of the previous conditions appropriate circumstances situation. Often spread, it is difficult twin. Leaders are responsible for the various tasks of all here is not intended to focus on the role that is associated with the culture. There are two major roles for leaders in this order:

First, the formation of corporate culture and its continuity and stability. The Shine fact, experts outstanding corporate culture, beliefs, values and assumptions of the founders and leaders of the organization and evolution of the original members of the learning experience (in traditional organizations) are the leaders have an important role in shaping organizational culture. He is in the process of shaping what leaders must do a "basic mechanisms" of items that are related to the persistence and strength of organizational culture as "secondary mechanisms" is mentioned. Barriers to change and improve institutional culture:

For better management and overall organizational culture change organizational culture, managers must recognize the obstacles on the way and have to fix them.

Attempt to change the culture of the organization comes to politics, but usually display advertising that can be confused with the real work. Projects such as new ships are launched into the few senior managers have a fundamental belief that it does not and cannot be combined. So Hrtlashy that seeks to motivate staff to discuss the results will not come to the organization's culture.

The famous adage, two percent said they did not conduct a half, not to speak of an object rather than the object itself was. Culture is not an object for the purpose of treatment, but there does not say it better than words but no action performed.

Sometimes employees accept certain organizational values, because the president is forced, as they are not themselves have agreed. In such circumstances, the organization believes will be effective only when the stress is behind the leaders.

The CEO said: "When you take your foot off the gas pedal all the activity stopped." Meant exactly that.

Cynicism may be more devastating than all the other obstacles when it comes to management of the organization despite the best efforts and intentions, inward, quiet good values and will not be able to own in the decisions of take.

Do not criticize the efforts to eliminate barriers because they sincerely and in good faith are made on. Even if it is not effective, but they are always positive. Instead, the focus is on the following terms and stops you from talking to action.
